Continental to hold Factory Service Tech School, Aug. 11-13

Oshkosh, Wis.-- Continental Girbau Inc. (Continental) will hold a Factory Service Tech School, Monday, Aug. 11 through Wednesday, Aug. 13, at Continental's headquarters in Oshkosh, Wis. The free training event – open to technicians of Continental on-premise and vended laundry equipment – will focus on diagnostics, trouble shooting and repair of Continental products, including E-Series Washer-Extractors and Express Heated-Roll Ironers.

Day 1: (8:00 am – 5:00 pm, Monday, Aug. 11) On the first day, Gary Clark, Continental technical services division manager, will emphasize basic electricity related to Continental equipment, including electrical circuits. Participants will also explore inverter drive operation and troubleshooting.

Day 2: (8:00 am – 5:00 pm, Tuesday, Aug. 12) The second day will spotlight ExpressWash™ and E-Series Washer operation and troubleshooting for vended and on-premise applications. "We'll finish with Express Ironer operation, tear-down and troubleshooting," said Clark.

Day 3: (8:00 am – finish, Wednesday, Aug. 13) We'll finish with Express Ironer operation, tear-down and troubleshooting on the third day.

Attendees for this factory service school should have a minimum of two years field experience. To register for the Factory Service Tech School in Oshkosh, Wis., call Julie Zeitlow at 800-256-1073.
